

I am very disappointed that your group saw fit to allow a piece of propaganda to air as news. I wonder if you would have been so kind if it had concerned the "Fahrenheit 911" movie. I was taught that this country was built on fairness, especially during election which could mean the change of direction of this country. We have always looked down on the Germans who helped Hitler and yet, when we have a leader who does many of the same things Hitler did, you choose to support this man by the use of propaganda. When I sat in history classes, I just couldn't understand how that could happen to a group of reasonable people. I know how that happened now. Bush has attacked a country who was not able to defend itself. He has held prisoners in camps where they are tortured. We have lost many of our privacy rights. He ordered the arrest of a woman who came to one of his events with tape across her mouth. You, as the watch dog of the airwaves should look closer at how your actions could effect this country. By the way, all the men in my family, who were of age to fight in Vietnam, did go there and they feel that Bush is no more than a draft dodger who stayed home to drink and do drugs. We don't want to force our opinion on others nor should Sinclair be free to force their opinions on us. Carrie Domitz
